

NATALIA MIYAR

This sought-after interior/architectural designer shares her sources for inspiration, from shops to fabrics

FABRICS

Craftsmanship is important to me and the latest fabric collection by Dedar pays beautiful tribute to the company's weaving heritage. Rubelli is my one of my favourite fabric showrooms to visit

PAINT

Hot pink is my favourite colour. Recently, I designed a dining room for a client who loves vivid colours and I chose Edward Bulmer's paint in Rose Pink for the dining room. As for neutrals, my go-to shades are Slate I to Slate V by Paint & Paper Library. They are perfection.

WALLPAPER

Fromental creates some of the most beautiful papers, both classic and contemporary. I am using a pale, pastel version of Rockface in a glamorous master bedroom which gives strong character to an otherwise ethereal room.

FABULOUS RESOURCES

The New Craftsmen gallery in London showcases a beautiful collection of glass, pottery, textiles and furniture by craftmakers from all over Britain and is a source of inspiration for me. I particularly love Edmond Byrne's glass pieces. Sinclair Till has beautiful rugs and carpets in a variety of materials.

SHOPPING FOR UNUSUAL BUYS

Sunbury Antiques Market in Kempton Park is a perfect place to discover something that is one of a kind.

INSPIRING LOCATION

The new Christian Dior boutique on New Bond Street in London is a wonderful place where art, design and fashion come together. It is a beautiful synthesis of contemporary design and craftsmanship with traditional detailing, a combination to which I aspire in my interiors.

1. The Christian Dior boutique on New Bond Street in London 2. Sunbury Antiques Market, Kempton Park Racecourse. All events are held every second and last Tuesday of every month 3. Large Textured Glass Bowl with Kaolin Patina (Amber) by Edmond Byrne, £3,000, The New Craftsmen 4. Rockface, El Capitan wallpaper, £650 a square metre, Fromental 5. Wall in Rose Pink, £41.50 for 2.5l, Edward Bulmer Natural Paint 6. Present Perfect fabric, £160 a metre, Dedar 7. Carpets from £145 a square metre to £615 a square metre, Sinclair Till